GIN BRANCH ITEMS.

News Notes and Personals Gathered from that Neighborhood.

Gin Branch, Oct. 14—Special: The most of the farmers of this section are ginning up their cotton as fast as they can pick it out, and a great many are selling it as fast as they can get it ginned, there are a few of the farmers, it seems, that can not get it out to gin, on account of the scarcity of hands.

Mr. John A. Bozard, of the St. Matthews section, who has been very sick, is much better.

Charlie Zeigler, of the Middlepen section, who has been quite sick for the past few days, is doing nicely again.

Mr. F. W. Stroman has returned home very much improved in health, after spending some weeks at Glenn Springs.

Quite a number of people from this section attended the old soldier's reunion at Orangeburg on Wednesday.

Mrs. Sam Ulmer, also Miss Maggie and Gussie Ulmer, and Miss Belle Board, all of this section, attended the Baptist Association at Cardova Thursday.

Mr. Fred Stroman visited his sister, Mrs. A. R. Riley, of Camerun, yesterday. Mrs. Riley has been sick for the past few weeks, but she is on the road to improvement again.

Should Be Eliminated.

There is too great a difference between the price received by the farmer for his produce and the price paid for the same by the consumer. As a matter of fact two many men handle the commodities before they reach the consumer and as each one has to have his profit it means that the farmer does not get enough for his products while the consumer pays too much. If some of the middlemen could be eliminated and more direct relations established between producer and consumer it would make for the financial benefit of both.

SWEEP IN NEW YORK

VICTORY FOR THE DEMOCRATS IS CERTAIN THERE.

That Is the Way It Looks to the Postmaster of Mobile, Who Is a Republican.

A Washington dispatch says it is an unusual thing for a Republican federal officeholder to admit that a Democratic victory is possible, even when it appears to be a certainty to the rest of mankind, but there is one such in Washington. He is Postmaster P. B. Barker, of Mobile, Ala., who is just back from New York State, where he had both eyes and ears open and learned a few things.

"It seems to be in the air all over New York state," observed this southern Republican, "that the Democratic ticket will make a clean sweep at the coming election. Mind you, it will not be so much a Democratic party, as an anti-Roosevelt triumph. Of course, the Democrats will read the advantage—that is inevitable, but it is the conservative business men of both parties who are moving now to head Roosevelt off from the nomination for president in 1912.

"People at a distance hardly realize the tremendous significance of the revolt against Roosevelt in the Union League Club, which is composed of Republicans who are at the very top in New York financial circles."

"Reports received from the east and west are most encouraging, and there is every indication that the next house will be controlled by the Democrats," said Representative Finley, of South Carolina, vice chairman of the Democratic congressional committee, who is in charge of the headquarters there.

"That issue," he said, "is the cost of living, and the people are impressed with the fact that the increased price of foodstuffs is caused by the Payne-Aldrich tariff. Insurgency in the west has split the Republicans in that section as free silver did the Democrats in the east in 1894.

"While the Democrats now are most hopeful, they are not idle, and in every debatable district they are waging a war on the high price of living. What about Roosevelt? Why, he is doing good work for us."

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

Several Notes of Unusual Interest Chronicled.

Already Senators and Members are arriving in the city to look up quarters for the coming session of Congress. This is always a difficult problem to those with modern means, as rooms are excessive in desirable localities and hotel accommodations are in many instances impracticable. The wealthy however, have no trouble as they either buy or lease residences to suit their tastes and demands, as these can always be secured even in the most fashionable and exclusive portions of the city owing to the constant shifting of this part of the population. But a very few of the foreign governments own their embassy quarters. England has an elegant residence and office connections in the center of the ultra fashionable locality, but most of the diplomats rent their homes and they are generally changed as new men come in.

Up to August 1, 171,669,529 Lincoln pennies had been issued, the Philadelphia mint, which coins all the copper coins, turning them out at the rate of 600,000 per day. Nearly 30,000 of these have been secured by collectors and are not in circulation. These are the first ones coined having on them the initials of the designer of the coin, the V. D. B. representing the name of Victor D. Benner. This issue was stopped by the authorities as soon as they discovered this error, and these particular coins are now practically all in the hands of collectors or speculators who are offering them for sale at two for five cents, as it is thought they will be at a premium in a few years.

The Agricultural Department has recently issued a set of fifteen valuable charts showing in the case of each article its food value. They are printed in six colors, on sheets 21 by 27 inches, with full explanatory margins, and art for sale at $1 per set. They are especially useful to instructors and students in physiology, domestic science and other branches in which food nutrition of man is studied.

Broke His Collar Bone.

The Calhoun Advance says: "Master Marion, son of Mr. H. F. Inabnet, on Route 1, received a very painful accident while tussling with some of his playmates at school yesterday. It seems that he was tripped accidentally and fell, crushing his collar bone. Physicians were summoned and the wound dressed. The little fellow is suffering quite a great deal, and we hope he will soon be o. k."

Picnic at Goodbys.

An all day picnic will be held at Goodbys Academy on Saturday, Oct. 22nd. Mr. Jas. Henry Rice, Jr., will speak on the bird problem. Other speakers have been invited, among them Hon. A. F. Lever. The public is invited. Refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the school. Go and help along the good cause.

To City Taxpayers.

The time for payment of city taxes without penalty is extended to and including October 31st, 1910. Do not wait until the last day. There will be no further extension. By order.

ROBINSON'S CIRCUS.

Pleased Large Crowds at Both Performances Yesterday.

John Robinson's Circus was at Orangeburg yesterday for two performances according to advertisement. The ring acts were all good and entertained the audience during every minute, acrobats, trained horses, tight rope walking and wild west features making the bill a varied and enjoyable one.

The feats of strength performed by Warren Lincoln Travis, who has an ambition to be a prize fighter, excited the keenest interest among the masculine part of the audience. Eunice de Motte, a dainty and graceful young girl pleased the audience very much by her bareback riding.

The elephants were fine. The big, old bulky animals are trained to perfection, and can trip the light fantastic toe with surprising ease.

The races, the acrobatic feats and the usual complement of circus acts made the performance thoroughly enjoyable throughout.

Another interesting feature is the aggregation of Indians. Genuine Sioux Indians they are, and they were never off the reservation before Robinson took them. Minnie Goodboy says she likes the circus life better than sitting on the plains smoking her pipe, and her husband, with Indian's cupidity, offered to sell her for $2 to one of the men.

There is one old Indian, Bird-Neck-Lace, who wears about his neck a heavy gold peace medal which was presented to him by President Arthur for service rendered to the government during the Sioux rebellion in 1890. Bird-Neck-Lace is 97 years old and is the medicine man of his tribe. He is a canny old Indian, whose stolidity is easily broken when a stranger admires his handsome peace medal.

IF.

(Kipling's Latest Poem).

If you can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;

If you can trust yourself when all men doubt you,
But make allowance for their doubting too;

If you can wait and not be tired by waiting,
Or being lied about don't deal in lies,

Or being hated don't give way to hating,
And yet don't look too good, nor talk too wise;

If you can dream—and not make dreams your master;
If you can think—and not make thoughts your aim;

If you can meet with triumph and disaster
And treat those two imposters just the same;

If you can bear to hear the truth you've spoken
Twisted by knaves to make a trap for fools,

Or watch the things you gave your life to, broken,
And stop and build 'em up with worn-out tools;

If you can make one heap of all your winnings
And risk it on one turn of pitch-and-toss,

And lose, and start again at your beginnings
And never breathe a word about your loss;

If you can force your heart and nerve and sinew
To serve your turn long after they are gone,

And say hold on when there is nothing in you
Except the will which says to them, "Hold on!"

If you can talk with crowds and keep your virtue,
Or walk with kings—nor lose the common touch.

If neither foes nor loving friends can hurt you,
If all men count with you, but none too much;

If you can fill the unforgiving minute
With sixty seconds' worth of distance run,

Yours is the earth and everything that's in it,
And—which is more—you'll be a man, my son!

—Rudyard Kipling in the American Magazine for October.

Sermon to the Veterans.

A sermon to the Confederate Veterans will be preached at St. Paul's Methodist Church on Sunday morning by the Pastor, Rev. H. Webb Bays, D. D., at 11 o'clock. Dr. Bays is a veteran himself, and he knows the hardships and privations endured by the Confederate soldiers on the tented field. He knows also from personal experience of their heroism and self sacrifice. All are invited to attend the services.

Small Number Register.

The books for the registration of voters in the city closed on Thursday afternoon, when 168 names had been placed on the books. This is hardly one-third of the vote of the city, and indicates that not a great deal of interest is felt in the election on the railroad bonds, which comes off on the 25th instant. The small registration indicates little or no opposition to the issuance of the bonds.

Vote for the Railroad.

The special election, which is to be held on the 25th instant, to determine whether this city will issue bonds to the amount of $20,000 to aid in building a railroad from this city to North, is of far reaching consequences. It would pay Orangeburg many times over to pay $20,000 in such an enterprise, and we are in favor of the issuance of the bonds, properly safe-guarded.

Local Items of Personal Interest to Our Readers.

The circus knocked out everything yesterday.

The time for the payment of city taxes has been extended to the 31st instant.

Life is a quarry out of which we are to mould, chisel and complete a character.

The old veteran that missed the reunion here on Wednesday missed a good thing.

The circus parade yesterday, which was a good one, was cut short by the threatening weather.

The circus so demoralized the schools yesterday that they gave up and quit about ten o'clock.

The man who fails in business because he has not paid attention to it always has time to attend to the business of others.

John Robinson's Circus, which pitched its tent here yesterday, still heads the circus procession as one of the best shows traveling.

Every man that is born into this world has his work already laid out for him, but too often the man and his work fail to make connection.

Several Calhoun County veterans attended the reunion Wednesday. Orangeburg was glad to see her old friends and hope they will come oftener.

We publish a list of the old veterans who registered here on Wednesday. We feel sure that several who attended the reunion failed to register.

A man may hang the Ten Commandments upon the wall of his home, but unless he practices them in his life he is no better than an idolater.

Capt. W. W. Wannamaker's speech Wednesday at the Academy of Music welcoming the Old Veterans to Orangeburg was a gem. It pleased all who heard it.

The taxes in Orangeburg County may be a little higher than some other counties right now because we are spending a good deal of money on road building, which is better than money.

The circus pitched its mammoth tents right in full view of one of the graded schools yesterday. In a case of that kind there was but one thing to do, surrender to the circus, and let the boys and girls go.

The Convention of the 6th district, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will convene in this city, on the 24th of November, 1910. Governor-elect Cole Blease is expected to visit the city during the convention.

Orangeburg County has determined to build all her roads in first-class style. When this is done she will have as good roads as any county in the State. It takes money to do it, but the people are willing to spend it that way.

The old veterans are loud in their praise of the way they were treated here on last Wednesday. A dozen or more of them has spoken to us commending the city very highly for its generous treatment on all occasions of the Confederate veterans.

It is given to but few people to write a grand and beautiful poem, but it is possible for very many to lead a grand and beautiful life. And it is no criticism upon the poem to say that noble though it may be the noble life is of far more service.

Important Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Orangeburg Good Roads and Drainage League in this city in the Court House at twelve o'clock on Saturday, October 22, to which meeting every person in Orangeburg county who is interested in the subjects of good roads, and drainage is invited and urged to be present. The object of the league is to teach the importance of good roads, and drainage, and to induce the building of better roads throughout the country. Let the meeting be a rousing one.

A Warning to Boys.

A Pennsylvania school teacher attempted to administer corporal punishment to one of her charges the other day, but the first lick ignited a handful of matches reposing in a hip pocket, with dire results to the trousers and greatly to the detriment of that order and regularity which should obtain in all public schools. It is a pretty safe guess, however, that one particular boy was good for a whole day.

We Have an Offset.

The Christian Register seems to despair of us. It very sagely observes: "We kill the birds who protect us, we give house-room to the fly that destroys us, and are very far, as yet, from anything like a rational conduct of affairs." And, says The State, we also breed mosquitoes that give us all sorts of disease. But then we also slay one another, as if nature and our natural enemies could not crowd the shambles fast enough.

The Boys Corn Fair.

Secretary Matheny is working hard to make the Boy's Corn Fair, which will be held here next Wednesday, a grand success by inducing farmers to send in corn as well as the boys. Several farmers have promised to do so, and the intention now is that the Corn Fair will be a great success. Every one is invited to come to Orangeburg on next Wednesday.

A QUEER THING

that anyone should waste any time hunting for an A1 piano when there is such an excellent instrument as the Knabe, the Kranch & Bach or the Haines Bros. right here in town. We have them and sell them for cash or on easy payments to responsible people. There are no better makes on the market for the money as professional players will attest. Here you pay for the piano—not the name alone.
